Warren County, Indiana. (See Vol III for a complete County map with all cemeteries listed)

We have compiled and indexed the information within this book as a gesture of preserving valuable genealogical data: data destined to be lost as time continues to weather these final monuments.

Unfortunately, some of the stones have been removed or broken and others are so badly worn, now, that they are already illegible. Many more graves have at one time been marked by wooden crosses, which are gone, or field stones, neither of which give any intelligible clue as to whom was buried.

Hopefully, this index will assist people too distant to be able to search the cemeteries themselves.

In doing this type of research it is valuable to know the reliability of the source. Some of the guidelines used to increase our accuracy are: 1. two persons reading data, 2. double checking against preexisting data, 3. comparing of family groups and initials, and 4. placing hard to read or difficult characters in parenthesses.

Additional information was sometimes available from decendents but that information was not included in order to limit the data to that found on the marker. The exception to this is assuming that a man and a woman on the same stone are husband and wife. Hodern stones are usually made this way.

One last consideration is that all data was copied as found--even in the case of the date written April 31!

All dates are numerically written in this form: 1/20/1855, month/day/year.

Some people who provided inspiration and advice are: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fellure, ilrs. Carl smith, Irs. Barbara Leak, ilr. Walter Jean, Nr. Gordon Hooker, Rev. Grover Williams and Mr. John Gaskill. We are grateful and owe them our sincere thanks. We've cherished the opportunity to meet some very nice people.

If anyone is interested in locating some of these cemeteries by using the directions given with each cemetery, please remember to ask permission from land owners before crossing fences.

HOM TO COLLECT ACCURATE DATA FROM OLD CEMETERY STONES

In Marren County the earliest inscribed stone is dated 1826 and is found in the Kickapoo Cemetery. This stone and others carved on sandstone (probably from the quarry in Milliamsport) were common until 1849. These stones represent some of the most interesting ones, because of their age and condition. The sandstone used in these stones is of fine quality and has resulted in some beautifully carved and well preserved stones. Before these sandstone markers came into use, field stones were used to mark head and foot and sometimes the perimeter of the grave. Mooden crosses were also used. Perhaps many were never marked at all and only a depression shows where a loved one was buried. It will not be known who lies in these graves, but the place where they lie can be noted and protected.

Another type of early marker is the tall rough-shaped sandstone markers with initials carved on them. The deeply cut letters are still legible. Several of these are found in Bussell Cometery.

In the early 1840's a type of marble began to be used. A man named Luke hickear carved many of these marble stones. He was an artist and the stones he created are interesting and unusual. He is known to have carved noch Farmer's stone for the nominal fee of $16.00. These marble stones are also soft and do not withstand weathering. Some of these stones are easy to read when chalk is rubbed over the surface. Others became ripoled as they weathered and chalk only obliterates the already faint letters. These are some of the hardest stones to read. Blue carpenters thalk works best because of its large surface. The chalk washes off with the first rain and does not damage the stones. Another complication with these thin stones is that they are often broken. Putting the pieces together is part of the process of reading the inscriptions.

he numbers and letters on badly weathered stones can easily be misroad. Number four is carved with a light horizontal line that weathers away eaving the strong vertical line, which appears as the number one. If a late of death appears to be 1818, check for the faint line on the number ne. The date should read 1848 as there are no stones dated as early as 818 in Marren County. Other numbers that are easy to confuse are eight and three, eight and six, and five and three. Threes were somtimes made ith a flat too. Look at other numbers on the same stone for comparison. etters are usually clear, but watch for confusion between C and D and and 0.

This information is valuble to a person doing genealogical research. The verses on the stones rarely give personal information. During this time period verses about heaven were popular. Favorite ones were used over and over. 'Budded on earth to bloom in heaven' is often found on infant's stones. Another example is 'Asleap in Jesus blessed sleep from which no one ever wakes to weep.' 'Hilitary information given on the stone can lead to more information about a soldier because the state the man served from is included.

There are other stones in cemeteries that do not usually contain added information. These are:

1. Temporary markers

Usually long and slender with initials at the top. When the headstone was placed these were often left next to the permanent headstone. If no headstone was erected this temporary marker becomes the only marker.

2. Footstones

- 1

Inscriptions can be first name, initials, Mother, Father, or no inscription. Not every headstone has a footstone, but in some cases the footstone is left while the headstone is gone. This can be important especially if the first name is on the footstone.

3. Plot markers

Short square markers with one initial. There will be from two to four of these marking a family plot.

4. Nother/Father stones

Located on each side of a headstone with a husband's and wife's names.

5. Family groups

The headstone contains names, dates and ages and nearby smaller stones with first names mark each individual grave.

6. Toppled stones

When elaborate markers fall apart there can be several pieces scattered about. Only one section will have an inscription, the rest are decorative. Check all sides of the piece with the inscription, as there may be two or more persons on one stone.

Don't expect old cemeteries to be mowed and well cared for. They are usually overgrown and sometimes hard to get to. The man who depicts the future of his own stone with a carved picture of a broken stone with a cow grazing beside it, was indeed perceptive! The best time of year to gather information is late fall or early spring as the grass and weeds are still short. It is also easier to find a cometery as the stones show up better when the foliage is off the trees and undergrowth. Usually these old burying grounds are located on high banks, perhaps overlooking a creek.

list of helpful equipment includes: blue carpenter's chalk for rubing over lettering, a putty knife to scrape soil and leaves off stones lying flat on the ground, a scrub brush to clean stones, a crow bar to urn heavy stones, and a camera to record unusual stones.

Perhaps with this basic information, your search for data in old cemeeries will be made easier and the names and dates found will be more accurate. He hope our experiences will save others from some of the problems we encountered.

West-Pine Chapel

This cemetery is very close to the Benton-Warren county line. From highway 26 take the Adeway north to the first gravel road to the left. The cemetery is one-half mile down this road on the right hand side in a wooded area. There is a wrought iron fence around the Cassel family plot which can be seen from the road. At one time there was a church here called Yellow Heaven because of the yellow wallpaper inside.

Bussell Cemetery

Bussell, or sometimes known as Jones, cemetery is located behind a picturesque early Pine Twp. farmhouse at the intersection of highway 26 and the Adeway. It is necessary to walk back the lane on the west side of the house. Cross the fence and angle to the left. The cemetery is ahead on high ground. It is no longer cared for and difficult to see during the summer months because of the tall prairie grass. The many large old oak trees provide a serene setting. There are several names associated with early Benton Co. history in this cemetery. Also of interest are some very primitive looking sandstone markers with only initials carved on them See Vol The P164 for additional burials in this cemetery.

VERSES FROM BUSSELL

511,

She died to live - Charlotte Jarvis
Matthews, John weepingwillow clear enough for plaster mold
Dunwiddie,
Go little loved one go
A Mother's heart can tell
And none but hers can fully know
How hard it is to say farewell

Dunwiddie, Im.

O sweet is the season of rest
When life's weary journey is done
The blush that spreads over it's nest
The last ling'ring ray of it's sun

Her loving smile no longer greets
the coming of her feet
The day seems long, the night seems drear and time roles slowly by.
And oh How dark is life around us
What is home without her there.

HOOKER CEMETERY

The Hooker Cemetery is another family cemetery. It is overgrown with brambles and brush and the ground is covered with myrtle. While beautiful, this ground cover grows over fallen stones and makes it easy to overlook some. Mr. Gordon Hooker has also made a list of the stones in this cemetery. The two lists together helped discover any ommissions. Several people have said that a maid of Abraham Lincoln's was buried here. The only marker that could be hers is that of Issabella Sketo. Also of interest is the marker of Susanna Moolaston who died at age 98 in 1850. The markers are dated from 1841: to 1905.

GRAY CEMETERY

Follow highway 26 west out of Pine Village. Turn left and drive one mile south. This cemetery is well cared for and is marked by an arched entrance with the name of the cemetery. Early in 1974 a tornado passed through this area and some stones were toppled. This is an example of how nature has overturned some heavy solid monuments. Hrs. Jane Smith has records on the people who are buried here and most of them are related.

KEYES CEMETERY

Lactvi

A short hike is required to reach this cemetery located 1/4 mile east of Briscoe on the north side of the road. It is visible from the road. This is another cemetery that should be visited in fall or early spring because of the weeds. It is a fairly large cemetery containing 182 names with dates from 1828 to 1917. The stone for Rebecca Davis had fallen face down and was almost impossible to turn because of its size. It took a lot of determination and ingenuity to finally turn this beautifully carved stone over. It is nearly six inches thick, four feet wide and five feet long. Many of the stones in this cemetery are no longer standing.

BARTLETT, CENETERY

There are two ways to reach the Bartlett Cemetery from the road going south-east out of Rainsville. The suspension bridge is an easier landmark but is a bit wobbly to cross. After crossing the bridge there is a fence to cross. Then turn right and walk to the second fence. There is a small house off to the left. Cross the second fence and head for the highest ground. The other way involves crossing Pine Creek at a tractor ford—miles from the little store in Rainsville. This crossing becomes a lane that goes north of the small house. Turn right and look for the high ground.

This cemetery is very nicely kept and is in a typical location for small family cemeteries.

VAN REED

This cemetery is located one and one-half miles south of Briscoe on US 41. Unfortunately this cemetery is in the worst condition that we have found so far. The rose brambles and burrs were so prolific they defy description In fact, they almost defied penetration. It was sad to see so many tall stately stones broken on the ground into so many separate pieces. One infant's grave had even been vandalized. One woman's theory was that valuable family possessions that had been buried with her were the object of search. As with many small cemeteries, this was located on top of a small knoll overlooking a small stream. LATER IT WAS LEARNED THAT THIS WAS ACTUALLY A REMOVAL TO ANOTHER CEMETERY. In major names included are Van Reed, Beever, and Hickman. It contains three stones dated in the early 1830's.

The Pine Village cemetery is located just outside of town on the west side. It is the largest cemetery in Marren County east of highway 41. There are 1000 names included in this cemetery—some dating to the mid 1830's. The oldest section is located in the northwest corner on a high bank overlooking Pine Creek. Most of the old stones are in good condition and the cemetery itself is well cared for. The Campbell family section contains several old sandstone markers. Since this type of stone weathers badly it is unusual to see so many in one area. An old pine tree was found growing around one of the small markers!

MOUND CEMETERY

This cemetery is located on a geographical landmark that was probably formed during the glacial age. It is a nearly perfect circle and "mound" shaped. The road encircles the mound and this is one cemetery that is easy to find! It is 2 miles south of State Road 26 on the 2nd gravel road east of Pine Village.

The stone of George Marlow is of interest as he lived to be 104.

QUAKER CEMETERY

The Quaker Cemetery is located on the first gravel road to the South off of Chatterton Road, one-half mile from the Independence Blacktop. This cemetery is kept mowed but many of the stones are out of place and propped against others. There are also many large sunken areas that once contained stones. Mr. John Gaskill, a local citizen, said that it contained at least one hundred or more stones at one time. He also mentioned that on the south end in the grove of hickory trees was once a Quaker Church. All traces are now gone. This cemetery is enclosed by a beautiful wrought iron fence.

MCKEMZIE CEMETERY

This cemetery has no known name, so for midentification we have called it McKenzie, for the property it is located on. On the Greenhill Blacktop, west of the Davis cemetery turnoff, there is an intersection with a gravel road. Continue past this point through two right angle curves. After the second curve you can see a very large tree on the right. This area is fenced in now. Up the hill are remains of an old cabin foundation. Head for the highest ground and on the edge of the pasture near the creek bank are two stones and some broken pieces lying in the grass.

DAVIS, Theodore
JAMES, Mary wife wife of David -

MCCONNELL

McConnell Cemetery is located in the field behind Bill Ice's house on highway 26. The small fenced in plot can be seen from the house. There remains only one stone and it is in perfect shape. Kezia Moore is related to the McConnell family and some people believe two of her sons might be buried inside the plot. Kezia's stone leans against the nearby farm fence.

MOORE, Kezia

consort of Milliam

See Vol III p 162 for addional notes on this cemetery

DAVIS CEMETERY

Pavis Cemetery is located southwest of Greenhill. There is a sign showing the turnoff. The cemetery is near a woods and has a beautiful wrought iron archway at the entrance. There are many large cedar trees in this cemetery. The very oldest stones are located at the back(west side).

Clawson cemetery is located at the intersection of two blacktop roads(see man). At one time a school house was on this corner. Visible from the road is a small wrought iron fence. The cemetery is in a wooded area. Most of the stones have fallen over and it is necessary to search through the leaves.

CHENOWETH CEMETERY

Chenometh cemetery is located near the county home, beside the county home cemetery. It is well cared for, but some stones have been overgrown by flowers and bushes.

ADAMS CEMETERY

To get to the Adams cemetery it is necessary to turn off the gravel road(see map) and drive through a gravel pit area. Adams cemetery is at the top of a high hill, and is not a very large cemetery. This list was doubled-checked against a record made by Mrs. Carl Smith so it can be considered a very accurate list. The information on the stone for Mary Matilda Brown may not be correct as this stone is nearly illegible. We are not sure of the surname.

BLACK SHEEP RUN

This is an old family cemetery that has no remaining stones and is not far from the Adams cemetery (see map) The spot is so beautiful it was worth the trip to locate the spot even though no stones are left. It is up the creek bank from the falls on land owned by Kenny Barnard.

HOPKINS-PRITCHETT CEMETERY

The stones in this cemetery have been removed from their original places. They can be found along a fence row close to the site of the cemetery. This small family plot is on property that belonged to H.Pritchett in 1865. C. Hopkins owned property not too far from the cemetery location. The land is now owned by Joe Hamblen. This list is not complete as some of the stones must be uncovered. Hany of the inscriptions are partial readings as the stones are broken.

BETHEL-HICKMAN CEMETERY

Bethel-Hickman cemetery is located south-east of Minthrop next to the road. It is kept moved and in good condition and contains several stones of the Hickman family. There was a church here until the 1920's when it was torn down.

INDEPENDENCE CEMETERY TOTAL TO

Independence cemetery is a large cemetery north of the small town of Independence. There is a section on each side of the road. Besides being the resting place for many early settlers in the Independence area, the famed trapper and trader Zachariah Cicott is buried here. His original sandstone marker which had deteriorated hasbeen replaced with a large boulder from the Mabash River. A Bronze plaque describes his services to early Marron County. His wife's marker is next to Zachariah's. This list was checked against a list made by the D.A.R. in 1932.

JAMES CEMETERY

The James cemetery is located on the Pine Village-Independence blacktop. Wm. Pine and P.James owned land on either side of this cemetery in 1865. Many of the people buried here were of families that owned land nearby. The cemetery is kept in good condition and has monuments dating from 1841 to 1963. Our records were checked against a list made by Firs. Carl Smith.

KICKAPOO CEMETERY

Kickapoo cemetery has the oldest cemetery stones in eastern Marren County. Some stones in the cemetery date in the 1820's. There are many old sandstone markers that have weathered until the lettering is gone. This is a very interesting cemetery to visit. It is located behind Bowater Pearson's home.
